

Figure 64: Line spacing is the distance between two baselines

✓ Note

All options except Fixed or At Least use the font's default. These two allow you to set your own spacing, which is especially useful at small font sizes to increase readability.

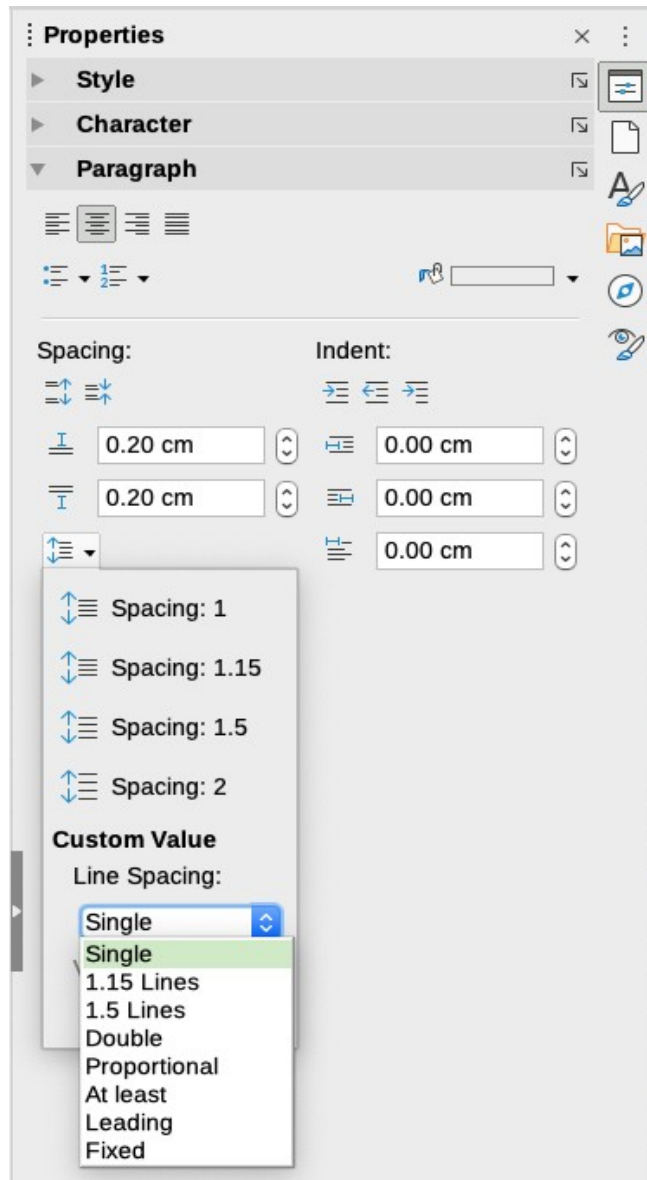

Figure 65: Line spacing submenu

Paragraph spacing refers to the vertical spacing between one paragraph and the paragraphs above and below it. As shown in Figure 60, the current values are shown in the Above Paragraph Spacing box (13) and the Below Paragraph Spacing box (14). You can change either or both of these settings independently.